Vacant Shops News

Council will take another next step in driving local economic renewal, proposing a consultation take place in a new differential rate on long-term vacant retail properties to reduce chronic vacancies and encourage active redevelopment across key commercial precincts.

The proposed measure will form part of our Rating and Revenue Plan and reinforces Council's commitment to improving activation, encouraging investment and reducing long-term vacancies in key commercial precincts, particularly in strategic nodes of the city centre and along the Nepean Highway where some of the city's most persistent land banking has occurred.
