

Environmental Volunteering

Be the change you want to see in your local community!

Frankston City supports a variety of environment and friends group volunteers who give their time to do practical hands-on work within our nature reserves, parks and foreshore, as well as advocacy, beach clean ups, environmental education and wildlife rescue. There are many ways that you can contribute your talent and time to make a difference.

Frankston Environmental Friends Network

The Frankston Environmental Friends Network (FEFN) provides a local forum for collaboration and communication between environmental and friends group volunteers within Frankston's municipality and beyond. As a stand-alone organisation, FEFN members meet monthly to share ideas and provide support to one another. The group meets on the second Wednesday of the month 2-4pm (excluding January).

Environmental and Friends Group Volunteers

Environmental and friends group volunteers work with the land manager, whether it is Council or another organisation to look after and undertake environmental activities within a natural reserve, park or foreshore.
