

Street numbering: Your responsibilities

Owners and occupiers

opportunity » growth » lifestyle

Property identification helps emergency services to locate and access your property in an emergency situation – which helps ensure our community is a safe one.

Street number and address allocation

Council is responsible for the allocation of street numbers and the addressing of properties in accordance with the Local Government Act 1989 and relevant Naming Rules and Addressing Standards.

Responsibilities of the owner and occupier:

Owners and occupiers of residential, commercial and industrial properties – including owners of vacant land – are required by law to display the correct, Council-approved street number at the front of their property and on the letterbox.

If you have further questions or would like more information about:

- Street numbering
- Addressing of your development, permit or subdivision application

Please contact Council's Revenue Department.
Phone: 1300 322 322 or visit: frankston.vic.gov.au

Related

- Local Government Act 1989
- Geographic Naming Rules for Places in Victoria
- Rural and Urban Addressing Standards

